To whom it may concern;

If you are in need of design services and reading this, look no further than MN Pro Design. I have been in the construction industry my entire life and worked with many different designers and architects. CJ is a skilled professional and now the only designer I use. He treats all of my projects as if they are his top priority and has met every one of my expectations and timelines. He takes the time to meet personally with my clients and listen to their wants and needs, and then turns it into a plan in a timely manner. He also listens to me, the builder, and tries to incorporate the customer's wishes into the design while also making it cost effective and simple for the crew on the site.

There has never been an instance that a phone call has not been returned, an issue has not been resolved, or the services that I have received have not been worth the cost in the 20+ designs he has done for me.

Recently I did a project for a client that was diagnosed with breast cancer, the Pink Ribbon Project (read about it at www.onoonan.com) I reached out to my team to do all they could to help get the project back on track and lower the budget to what they could now afford. Without hesitation CJ waived his fee and went above and beyond what anyone would expect to make it happen for her. It shows not only his professionalism, but also his values.

If you would like to discuss with me personally my opinion of CJ and MN Pro Design, please contact me anytime.

Sincerely,
